Mummy: Don't worry George. We'll find Mr. Dinosaur.

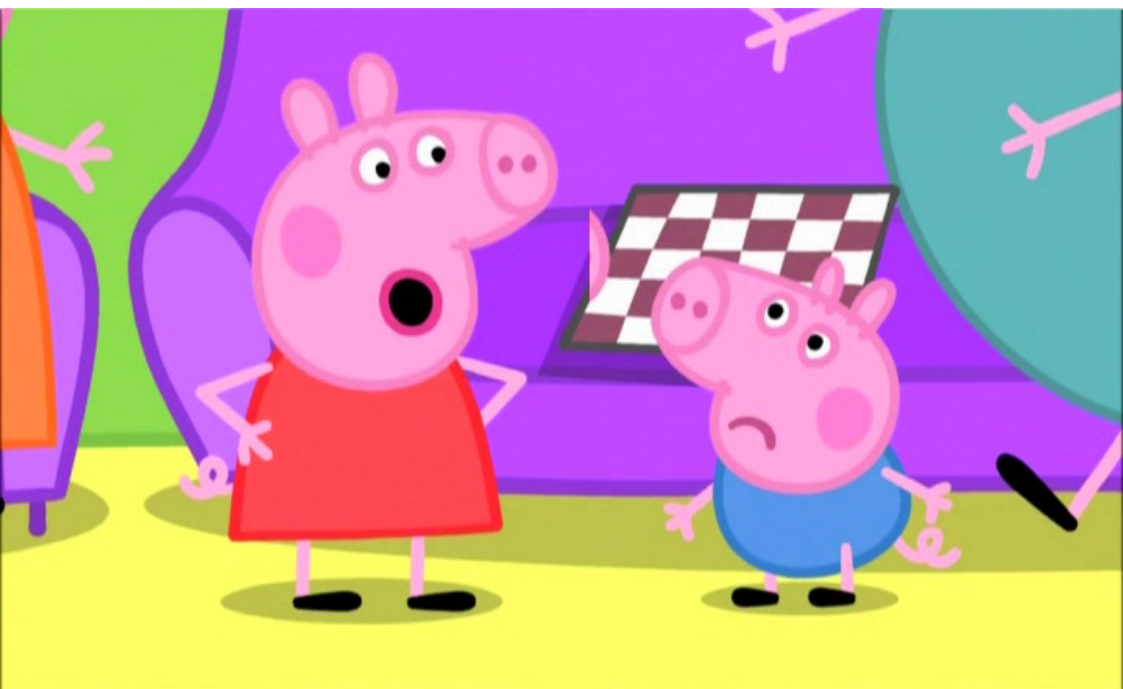

Daddy: It's a job for a detective.

Peppa: Daddy, what is a detective?

Daddy: A detective is a very important person who is good at finding things.

Peppa: Me. Me. I'm good at finding things.

Daddy: Alright. Peppa is the detective.

Peppa: George. I am the detective. I will help you find Mr. Dinosaur.

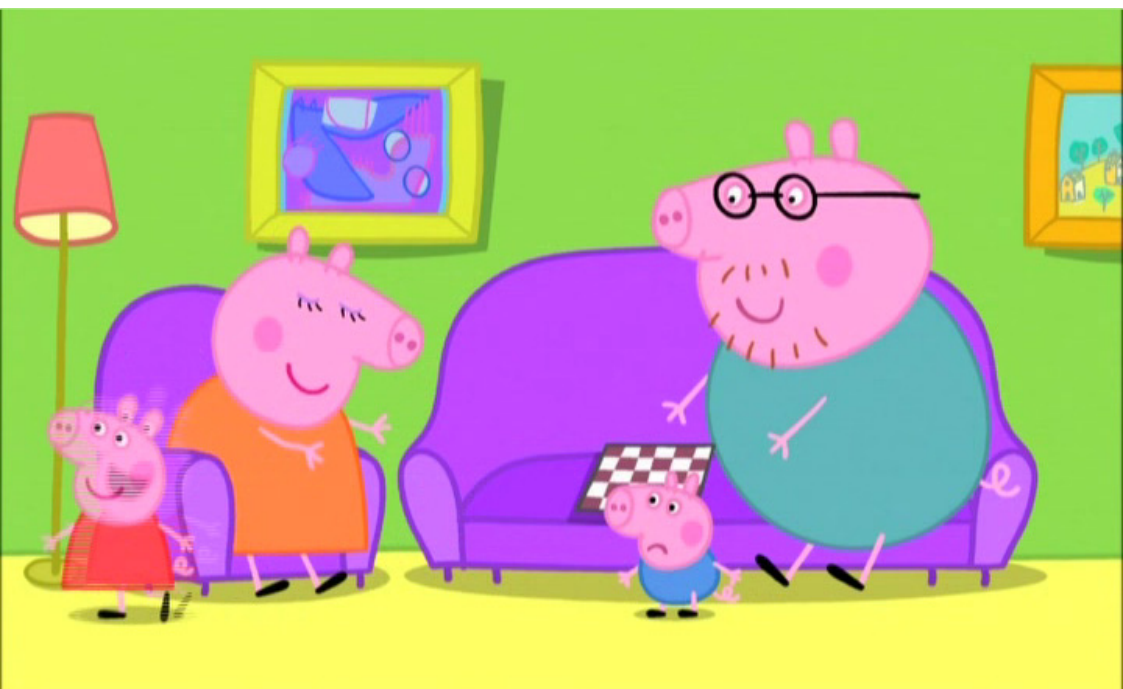

Mummy: Maybe the detective should ask George some simple questions.

Peppa: George? Where's Mr. Dinosaur?

George: Whaaaaaaaaaaaaa.

Narrator: George does not know where Mr. Dinosaur is.

Daddy: The detective could try and guess where Mr. Dinosaur might be.

Peppa: I know. I know where he is.

Peppa: George always has Mr. Dinosaur with him in the bath. So Mr. Dinosaur is in the bath.

Narrator: Mr. Dinosaur is not in the bath.

Peppa: Oh. I know. I know where Mr. Dinosaur is.

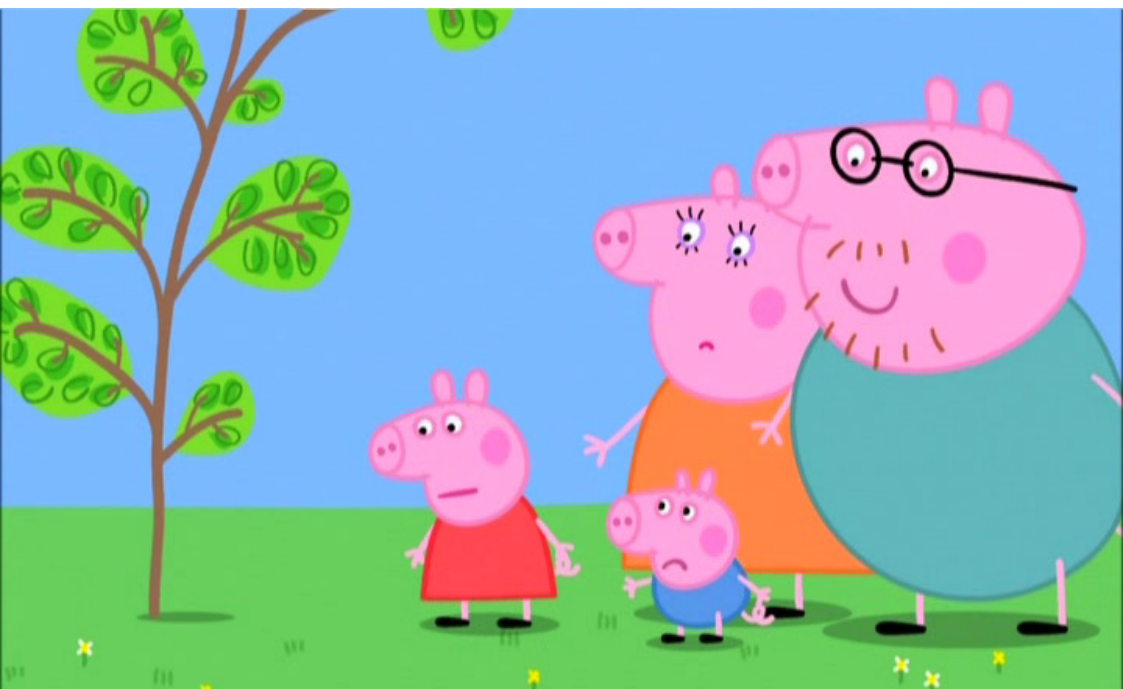

Peppa: George always has Mr.Dinosaur in his bed at night. So that's where he is.

Narrator: Mr. Dinosaur is not in George's bed.

Peppa: Oh.

Mummy: Maybe we should try the garden.

Peppa: Yes, the garden. I was going to say that.

Peppa: Where is Mr. Dinosaur?

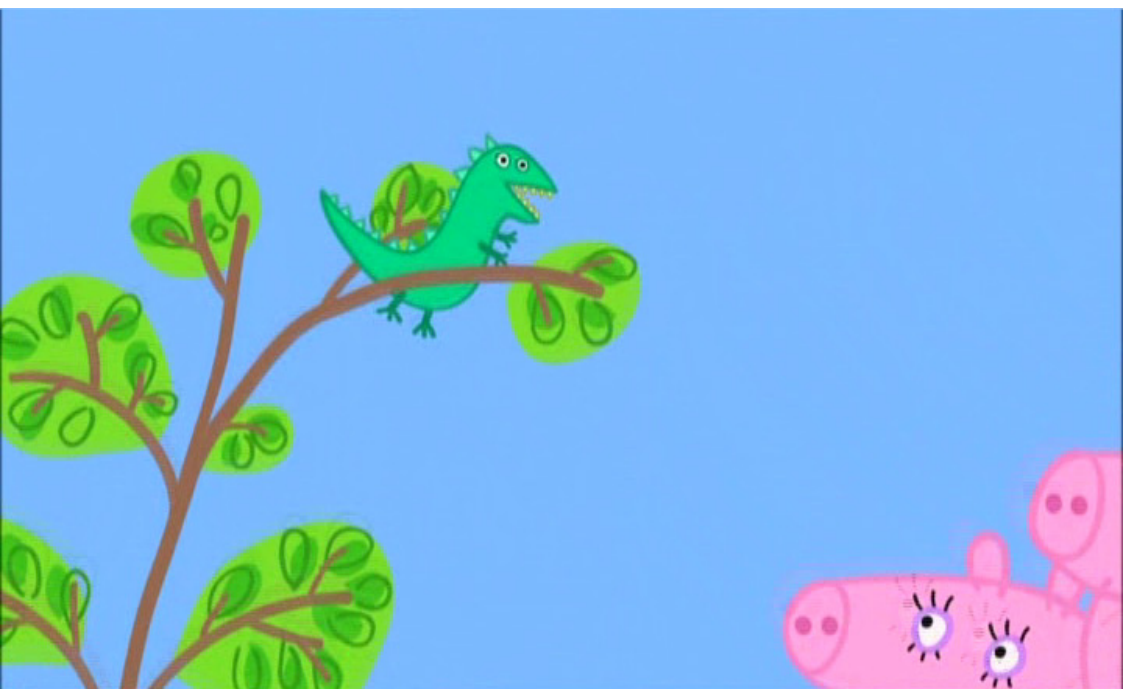

Narrator: Mr. Dinosaur is very hard to find.

Peppa: Oh. Mr. Dinosaur isn't anywhere.

Daddy: George? You do love to throw Mr. Dinosaur in the air...

I wonder if this time you threw Mr. Dinosaur just a bit too high.

Peppa: There he is. There he is. I saw him first.

Daddy: Well Done, Peppa. You really are a very good detective.

George: Dine-Saw.

Narrator: George is so happy to have Mr. Dinosaur back again.

Daddy: Maybe it isn't a good idea to play with dinosaurs near trees.
